~~A system, method and article of manufacture are provided for affording a user interface.~~
The present invention provides for a user interface of images of selected goals from a plurality of goals, each image changing in appearance based upon preferences selected for each selected goal. First, a plurality of images are displayed in a frame. ~~Each~~ of the images representing a goal of a user. In operation, the user is permitted to select from ~~of~~ the images in the frame. Further, a user is permitted to adjust preferences related to the goal represented by the selected image in the frame. The appearance of one or more of images in the frame is then altered based on the adjusted preferences of the goal represented by the selected image. In a further embodiment, a personal profile is created corresponding to the adjusted preferences of the user.
